Corrupt practices suit asks Del Mesa Carmel zoning be rescinded

A request to set aside the original zoning for Alcan-Pacific Company's Del Mesa development in Carmel Valley is included in the "corrupt practices" lawsuit filed last week in superior court against three Monterey county supervisors, Attorney Francis Heisler of Carmel pointed out this week.

The suit, which names Supervisors Tom Tudson, Harold Henry and Arthur Atteridge, was triggered by the board's recent 3-2 decision for a scenic easement with the proviso that, if ever condemned for a park, payment for the 270 acres would be at subdivision prices.

ment proviso and to set aside the zoning, or to show cause why it should not do so.

Heisler charges that the board acted illegally because:

1-It "preempted the right of some future and competent public agency to decide upon the condemnation of the land."

2-The supervisors "arrogated to themselves the judicial power to determine the price to be paid in a future case of condemnation proceedings."

3-It "granted to Alcan a blanket tax reduction on its land described in (the) scenic easement deed."

SEVEN PLAINTIFFS

Plaintiffs are John Sigourney, George A. Brown, Dr. Ben M. Dahle, Dorothy Durham, John M. Harms, Andres Larsen and Roland T. Percival, all of Carmel Valley.

Heisler said that 10 days notice was allowed in fairness to those charged before he will appear in court to apply formally for the writ of mandate on February 25.

The suit calls the easement agreement "corrupt, illegal, unjust, arbitrary, capricious and unauthorized." Heisler, a noted Constitutional lawyer, charges in the suit that the easement decision was "discriminatory and contrary to the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States." Plaintiffs have been deprived, it continues, of "due process and of the equal protection of the law."

The suit calls the scenic easement agreement "incurably tainted."

ASKS WRIT OF MANDATE

Heisler is petitioning the court for a writ of mandate ordering the board to vacate the decision to approve the ease-

Supervisor Hudson replies to lawsuit

"This Board, three individuals thereof, has been accused among other activities, of corrupt and illegal acts, by eight individuals in the Carmel Valley."

"When a person uses that kind of language against a fellow citizen he would ordinarily expect either a quick right to the jaw, or more properly, a civil or criminal action, for libel or slander."

"The first alternative, desirable as it may be, is obviously not a proper solution. The second alternative, the libel or slander action, cannot be used by a public official in defense of his reputation, because as the plaintiff well knows, the contents of a legal plea are completely privileged and cannot be the basis for such a suit."

"I have not been served with a copy of the complaint as yet, but because of the serious na-

Valley "G" zone retained by PlanCom

Members of the Monterey County Planning Commission voted to retain "G" zoning in Carmel Valley at a public hearing held last Thursday in Salinas.

The "G" is a combining district in KGB4 which bridges the "K"—single dwelling and agricultural use, and the "B4"—one acre minimum. Four categories of uses are allowed in the "G" zone.

A resort hotel or club with a maximum of 100 guest rooms is allowed on ten acres. For each additional guest room an additional acre is required. The new resort planned by Green Meadows, Inc. at the entrance to the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club falls in this category.

A hospital, rest home, sanitarium or retirement home may also be allowed on a ten acre piece. Dr. Noto's proposed convalescent hospital on Schulte Road comes under this section, as does Hacienda Carmel.

Executive or managerial offices may be located on five acres.

A research laboratory with no manufacturing or sale or goods may also be located on five acres. There must be no bright lights, vibration, noises

C of C urged to back sewer study

Cost of a main sewer line half way up Carmel Valley, to Farm Center, was estimated at $1,300,000 by Ed Bivins, senior county sanitarian, speaking to the CV Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at Plaza Linda Restaurant.

Such a bill could be cut in half with federal funds, and further eased by cooperation from Carmel Valley Manor, the planned Rancho Fiesta retirement home and possibly Hacienda Carmel and Dr. Joseph Noto's proposed convalescent hospital on Schulte Road.

Del Mesa Carmel is now financing a trunk line to the Carmel Sanitary District's disposal plant near the mouth of Carmel River.

URGES CC ACTION

Bivins urged the chamber to take the lead in promoting a Valley sewage disposal plan. Chairman Harold Arnot of the Carmel Sanitary District said that the Valley could annex to the Carmel District or could form a separate sewer district, contracting with the established district for disposal.

He warned that it would probably take three years "from the time you decide to form a district, until it becomes an operational fact." He suggested a committee be formed "to get your project off the ground."

Bivins disclosed that state grants are available for study and planning. He added that joining the Carmel Sanitary District is probably the most practical solution.

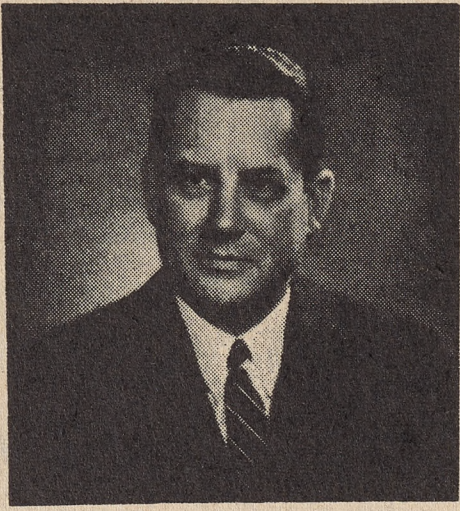

CO-OPERATION WITH CVPOA

Chamber Director Louis Gardner suggested that the Chamber and Carmel Valley Property Owners Association work together on the sewer

Dear Loyal Customer:

Before leaving as President of your bank, I am writing this note to express my sincere appreciation of your loyal support as a customer and friend of Security National Bank.

When we came to Pacific Grove in 1961, our bank, after 72 years, had but four employees. Now we have eighty employees. All have been trained to serve you under an old-fashioned, but successful, formula; that is, the "Golden Rule". If you stop to think about the treatment that you receive at our bank, you will see that we attempt to follow this rule to the letter.

All of our present officers and employees will be retained by United California Bank. Additional staff will be necessary, as we are continuing to grow. You will find that the business principles of the United California Bank and our bank are similar. You will enjoy their service and courtesy.

From years of banking experience, I can truthfully say that United California Bank is one of the safest banks in the nation. Because of their excellent state-wide management and strength, you will enjoy banking with the United California Bank.

Illness curtailed my activities and ability to be of personal service to many of our customers. I regret not having the opportunity to serve you further. I trust that we will meet again, but in case we do not, I want you to know that your patronage and acquaintance was deeply valued by me and my associates. We hope you will continue your loyal patronage with United California Bank, our worthy successor and a most excellent bank.

Medill Bair presents summary on use of Override Funds

The following report is a summary of Board of Education decisions relating to use of override funds, prepared by CUSD Superintendent Medill Bair.

If the voters approve the override election March 29, the Board of Education plans to use the funds for the following purposes:

Approximately half of the funds (the revenue of 35¢ of the total of 75¢ requested) will be used to maintain the present program. The funds raised by this 35¢ will be more than sufficient during the first three lowing:

At the Carmel High School: two teachers next year.

At the Carmel Middle School: two English teachers, one mathematics, one foreign language, one science, one history, one music, one arts and crafts, two-thirds physical education teacher (part-time).

At the Tularcitos School (Grades 5 and 6 only): one teacher next year.

Full implementation of this policy will require from two to five years. It will not be carried out in haste for securing outstanding teachers in this day ploy. One district has a lower minimum, all have a higher maximum and our problem of employing experienced teachers is well illustrated by the seventh step. We simply cannot compete for teachers with experience.

The Board of Education in the next few years, plans to build a schedule which will make us more competitive with most of the above districts. They also plan to build into the schedule incentive features which will reward outstanding members of our staff.

Salary Schedules Compared

	Minimum	Seventh Step	MA plus 30 Maximum	Years to Maximum
Carmel	5,400	8,352	10,161	12
Paol Alto	5,700	10,250	12,325	11
Palm Springs	6,000	10,000	12,000	12
Becerly Hills	5,600	11,256	12,824	10
La Canada	5,550	9,370	11,200	10
Gilroy	5,400	9,500	11,250	12
Pacific Grove	5,200	8,700	11,100	13
San Marino	5,500	9,365	11,315	12
Santa Clara	5,505	9,745	12,000	12
Marina	5,604	10,336	12,052	9
Monterey	5,400	8,070	10,250	12
Salinas	5,600	9,310	10,810	13 years and will be less than enough during the last two years. The excess raised during the first three years will be used to meet the deficit during the last two years.

BUDGET DEFICIT without tax:
1966-1967 - $100,557
1967-1968 - 186,491
1968-1969 - 284,034
1969-1970 - 394,337
1970-1971 - 518,739

If override funds do not become available, it will be necessary for the Board to make drastic cuts next year. Primarily, because of a decrease in Public Law 874 revenues, the estimated deficit of $100,557 will be closer to $127,814.

It is planned to use the other 35¢ in the following manner:

1. The CUSD Board of Education will attempt to implement its "Student Teacher Ratio-Class Size" policy as follows:

A. SECONDARY POLICY

English—4 classes daily, approximately 100-120 students.

Other academic subjects—5 classes daily, approximately 125-150 students.

Practical arts—6 classes daily, approximately 120-150 students.

Physical education—5 classes daily, 200-250 students. For intramurals, 6 classes daily, approximately 240-300 students.

Meeting secondary school policies would require the following: of increasing shortage is a slow process.

B. ELEMENTARY POLICY

Teachers—1 per 24 students (school average)

Principal—1 per school.

Librarian—1 per 400 pupil school.

Music-vocal — 1 per 400 pupils.

Music-instrumental — 1 per 800 pupils.

Art—1 per 400 pupils.

Physical education—1 per 800 pupils.

Guidance—1 per 800 pupils.

Psychologist—1 per 1200 pupils.

Meeting these elementary school policies would require the following: two new teachers at River School and the equivalent of a half-time teacher at Tularcitos. A principal at Woods School, two librarians to serve Woods, Carmelo and River Schools, two, plus, music teachers for the district, two, plus, art teachers, two physical education instructors, two guidance counsellors and a full-time psychologist.

2. The CUSD Board of Education will attempt to make its salary guides competitive with districts with which it competes and will build incentive features into its schedules.

The above comparisons represent neighboring districts and also districts which employed teachers that we tried to em-

Swiss Consul Jean Studer has been invited to give conference on Swiss Literature

Jean Studer, Swiss Consul to San Francisco, has been invited to give a conference on Swiss literature, Saturday, February 19, under the auspices of l'Alliance Francaise.

With Consul Studer will be the well-known Swiss artist, Edmond Bertschy.

Consul Jean Studer was born in Neuchatel, Switzerland and studied economics there and in Leipzig. He was successively in post in Sidney and Melbourne, Australia, in India during the war, then in China and Vietnam. After nearly 21 years spent in the Far East, he was transferred to Strasbourg as Consul General and Observer to the Council of Europe and the Parliamentary Assembly of the European Common Market. In March, 1962 he was appointed Consul General in Algier and when diplomatic relations were established with the new Government, he was appointed Charge d'Affaires to the Republic of Algeria. Consul Studer has been posted in San Francisco since March 1, 1963.

Mr. Bertschy made his debut in amateur theater at the age of 15. He was a student of Louis Jouvett and became a member of the Louis Jouvett Company of Athenes under the pseudonym of "Jean Carry." He has made three films, "Route de feu," "La Maison sous la Mer" and "Les Dieux du dimanche." Mr. Bertschy will present some of his most popular recitations.

L'Alliance president Henri Corbat of Carmel extended the invitation to the two men. Mr. and Mrs. Corbat will host a small dinner party with other committee members at Le Coq d'Or prior to the conference. The conferences will take place at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies at 8 p.m. The public is invited for the meeting and refreshments. A small donation for the scholarship fund of l'Alliance will be accepted.

Hartnell faculty art show at College Gallery

Works of painting, sculpture and photography currently on exhibit at the Hartnell College Studio Gallery in Salinas mark the first faculty show of the school year.

The display represents the work of Leon Amyx and Joseph Bragdon, art faculty members of long standing.

Members of the public are invited to view the exhibit and to record their comments weekdays from 8 to 5 and from 7:30 p.m. to 10 Mondays through Thursdays.

Sixteen oils and watercolors by Amyx were done from sketches made during his European Sabbatical leave of 1962-63.

Bragdon's two dozen photographs take documentary looks at Salinas as well as of wintertime Yosemite Valley. His sculptures in welded iron show abstract growth forms.

The Rhyming Philosopher

Lie or not to lie -- that is the question;
Unless you have some better suggestion.
Who was that blonde you were seen with last night?
Who, me? Yes, you! Someone saw you all right!

What's a white lie, more or less? Would you dare Answer: -- That? Oh, that was Smokey the Bear!
Or come right out and admit to your guilt,
And name who the blonde is -- Man, is she built!

George Washington claimed he never could lie;
History since has been wondering why.
Abe Lincoln told stories -- most wond'rous tales.
Truth gets so sticky, and often it fails.

Friends of us downtrodden husbands, Arise!
Freedom for all, and be free to tell lies.
Women still fudge on their birthdays, a few;
They get away with it, why shouldn't you?

Valley Fire

Dept. calls

Calls by the members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department were limited to two service calls last week. The first was on February 3 at 4:15 p.m. to the residence of Derek Rayne in La Rancheria where there was a problem with leaking water. On February 6 at 11:35 p.m. the department answered a call at the Calle de la Paloma home of Major Billie Mans where a large oak tree had fallen over the house. No damage was apparent.

"JOINED UP and Joined In" for the Carmel Chapter Golden Anniversary Fund Campaign are Mr. Richard Bennett and

50th anniversary of Carmel Red Cross Chapter

The fund drive this year by the American Red Cross is combined with a very special anniversary of the Carmel By the Sea Chapter since it marks their Golden Anniversary.

Dick Duhring, Campaign chairman, has named the following chairmen who will coordinate the drive in Carmel Valley. Mrs. Stephen Schaffer will head the Upper Valley volunteer workers, Mrs. Harold Quentel is chairman of the Lower Valley, and Kevin Walsh will direct the drive of Valley businesses. Representing the Carmel Manor is Captain Tom Smith, Miss Marjorie Pettman is chairman of the Hacienda, and Robert Reynolds is chairman for Rancho Rio Vista.

Regarding the Golden Anniversary Campaign, Chairman Dick Duhring has written to his chairmen: "Your chapter has already felt the impact of the military build-up in the increased emergency communications between families in our midst and their men in Viet Nam. Your chapter has responded to sudden request for gifts, comfort items, and recreational material for hospitalized servicemen in Viet Nam, on the hospital ship Repose, and for those evacuated to hospitals in the United States.

"The challenges must be met by your chapter without neglect of its responsibilities in its immediate community—the supply of blood to our local hospitals, safety training, preparedness for national disasters, providing and equipping our emergency ambulances, and other local services. We are going to have to work a little harder and dig a little deeper."

Tuesday, March 1, is starting date when you may expect a visit from one of your neighbors who will give you an opportunity to donate.

SPOT's is new name for social group

The "Single People Over Thirty" group has spots before their eyes...these letters being the initials of the name which they have taken as a temporary handle, according to Mrs. Claudine Van Fleet.

The name was suggested by Peggy Barrington at the Christmas party, which was held at her Carmel Knolls home. About fifty members attended, along with a Santa Claus who provided gifts for all. He had a special gift of champagne for Peggy in gratitude for coming up with the new name.

The club ushered in the new year with a cocktail party, buffet and dancing at the studio-home of Eddy Dum in Pacific Grove.

The SPOT's have appointed a temporary executive board consisting of Kathleen Pilcher, chairman; Wally Barclay, vice-chairman; Millie Doyle, secretary; and John Sweeney, treasurer.

Committee chairmen who have been named are, Beth Keenan, social activities; Helen Comeaux, newsletter; Claudine Van Fleet, publicity; and Carol Flynn, interest group.

The Salinas Singles group, Los Solteros, invited the Peninsula group to join them in a pot-luck dinner and dance recently.

The SPOT's have planned a card party for this month. For further information, call Mrs. Claudine Van Fleet, 624-8170.

Outlook on Carmel

February 16, 1966

Senator Farr announces he will campaign to represent 17th District

State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel ended widespread speculation as to his political intentions on Monday when he announced his candidacy for State Senator from the newly 17 Senatorial District, comprised of Monterey, San Benito, Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo counties.

Senator Farr revealed his plans in Salinas on Monday morning and then flew to Hollister, Watsonville and San Luis Obispo for further announcements. After speaking in each of the four counties involved, Senator Farr then returned to Sacramento.

Speaking at the Salinas courthouse, Farr stated that his eleven years of experience, which now places him as chairman of the Senate natural resources committee, and as senior member of the education, judiciary, transportation and elections committees, will be increasingly important to the Central Coastal areas as control of the Senate under reapportionment moves from Northern to Southern California—from the rural and semi-rural to the vast metropolitan areas.

Listing the many unique cultural, business and topographical qualities of the new 17th district, Senator Farr pointed out the need for an orderly growth. His past legislative experience and performance, he feels, shows the necessary broad range of interest to preserve these unique qualities.

"With the reapportionment of state legislatures and the concentration of legislative control in metropolitan areas together with the establishment of a Department of Urban Affairs in Washington, state legislatures, including our own, face tremendous challenges," he continued.

"It is therefore important that our Central Coast Area be represented by a Senator who will devote full time to the problems of the district and one who can work effectively with the executive branches of government on the State and National levels. This I believe, I have proven I can do and will continue to do, if re-elected.

"During the ensuing months, I will work vigorously to be elected as the new Senator from the 17th District. After the November election, I look forward to representing in Sacramento, all of the people of San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties—Republicans and Democrats alike—to the very best of my ability," Senator Farr concluded.

Farr has represented Monterey County's 25th District since winning a special election in 1955. He received both the Republican and Democratic nomination in 1956 and was returned to office in 1960 and 1964.

'Town and Country' lights to be tested in two Carmel locations

Carmel residents will soon see new streetlights on the Dolores street block between Ocean and 7th. At last week's Carmel City Council meeting it was voted to install two "Town and Country" type lights on 12 foot posts on a trial basis to test reaction and efficiency. The lamps, resembling the old fashioned gas lamps which were a subject of controversy at the Council through several meetings, will be placed in front of the former El Fumador, 50 feet north of Seventh, and in front of the Picadilly Nursery, 175 feet south of Ocean Avenue.

The 12 foot metal posts which will support the lamps are considerably shorter than the originally planned 30 foot standards. The Council also voted to continue study on the use of wall mounted lights.

Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh is the first block of the business district to get underground utilities and this brought about another problem. A report from the Forestry Commission suggested putting planter boxes on the sidewalk because of increasing problems of placing trees due to the undergrounding of utilities.

It had been noted by the council during one of their "tree tours" that the Dolores street block was becoming very barren looking. It was voted to try two planter boxes for a trial time of six months in this block which is turning into an experimental area.

Filing deadline for Council race tomorrow

Five Carmel men have announced their intentions of running for the two seats which will be vacant on the City Council. The terms of Mayor Herbert B. Blanks and James C. Buffington Jr. will expire in April. Buffington has announced that he definitely will not seek reelection. Although Blanks has indicated that he will be a candidate he had not filed as of yesterday.

Papers have been picked up by Erik Jensen, but have not been returned. The last day for filing is noon tomorrow, February 17.

William Sefton, Dr. James Gilman and Carvel Baldwin have all filed for the April 12 election.

The two candidates who poll the highest number of votes will take office on April 19.

CARMEL CITY COUNCILMAN Gunnar Norberg had a field day at last week's meeting over the Civic Center plans, pay for councilmen, and horsedrawn carriages. Two reports suggested by Norberg: one to compensate councilmen and another to ask voters if they wished to elect the Mayor directly, were turned down by the council. Questions of discrimination in granting parking places for the carriages without allowing the same consideration for taxis and limosines were continued.

Council oversight on contract gives Norberg another 'No'

Carmel's city councilman, Gunnar Norberg was in rare form again Wednesday night when he capitalized on an "oversight by the council" in not signing a contract authorizing the drawing of plans for the new Civic Center. Norberg who has opposed the idea of building the Center since its inception, smiled benignly and launched into a 40 minute discussion of discrepancies in the original cost estimate and the bill for services from the architectural firm of Burde and Shaw.

Working plans had been authorized by the Council last July, and it was apparent to all that they had been completed since the next item on the agenda was to put them out for bid. City Attorney William Burleigh pointed out that the city was liable for the cost whether there was a contract or not. In the interest of expediting an already long meeting, Acting Mayor Jim Buffington called for signing of the contract.

Again and again, Norberg questioned the rise in cost from approximately $230,000 to almost $300,000. It was pointed out that the council had made changes in the plans, adding a defense celler, reinforcing the roof for parking, etc. and naturally costs would rise.

The vote came after councilman Eben Whittlesey pointed out that the motion only executed the contract and did not actually spend money. But Norberg, who had vowed to vote against the center everytime it came up, still cast the only dissenting vote.

At this point, the plans which had been sitting behind the desk, were produced and Norberg delightfully pounced on the fact.

"We have approved a contract and suddenly, like lightning, we have the plans!" he joyously commented. After more discussion similar to the earlier filibuster, the council agreed to hold an adjourned meeting this week to study and discuss the completed plans. At that time it is expected that the Civic Center plans will be put out for bid.

Tea and gift sale planned to benefit All Saints' School chapel

"Halealoha," the house of friends, was the name given to Sally Shedd's home by a Hawaiian friend years ago...and so it is although it sits on the highest hill within Carmel.

On February 17 from 4 to 6 p.m. "Haleahola" will be open to friends by Mrs. Shedd for a tea and sale of gifts for the benefit of chapel building fund of the All Saints Episcopal Church School (formerly the Bishop Kip School) now in the new building on Carmel Valley Road.

Friends are invited to drive up San Louis Avenue to San Pedro, where the young men of York School will park the cars. Guests may enjoy "Haleahola" and its gardens before having tea. A display of gifts and antiques, which have come from all over the world, will be for sale in order to swell the fund to build the chapel at the new

All Saints School.

At the tea table, decorated with Spring flowers of yellow and violet hues, the following ladies will be pouring: Mrs. David Hill and Mrs. Peter Farmer, Mrs. Stuart Symington Goode and Mrs. Richard Murtland, Mrs. Willard Wheeler and Mrs. Sydney Williams, Mrs. Palmer T. Beaudette and Mrs. Edward Wedlake.

An invitation is extended to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mallory feted at reception

A belated wedding reception was held recently for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mallory of Coalinga. Mrs. Mallory is the former Beth Alene Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Myers of Esquiline Road. Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mallory of Taft.

The young couple was married at the Coalinga home of Beth's sister, Mrs. Virginia Reece, on December 16. However, Carl was just recovering from mononucleosis so post-wedding festivities were postponed.

The reception for about 75 friends and relatives was held at the House of the Four Winds in Monterey, Saturday, January 29. The lovely six tier fruit cake was made by Beth's mother for the occasion. The cake was centered in white carnations, yellow mums and maidenhair ferns and the yellow and white flowers on the cake echoed the color scheme.

Carl is employed in the personnel office of Shell Oil Company. He and Beth spent the weekend with her parents in Robles del Rio and then returned to their home in Coalinga.

MR. AND MRS. CARL MALLORY were guests of honor at a belated wedding reception given by her parents. Mrs. Mallory, the former Beth Alene Myers, wore the white brocade suit dress which had been her wedding outfit at their December marriage ceremony.

"Alice in Wonderland" with Angene Feves in the title role surrounded by a cast of over 50 puppets from the Geddis and Martin Company continues to draw capacity houses at the Tantamount on Middle Canyon Road. Swelling the crowd of Valleyites and theatregoers from all over the Peninsula is an impressive group of San Francisco and Bay Area players who make the trek to Carmel Valley to see these famous professional puppets who have been performing Lewis Carroll's great fantasy for more than 30 years.

Schedule to date includes Sunday matinees at 3 o'clock for February 13, 20, and 27.

DEEP IN THE MIDDLE of a verbal battle between the contrary Tweedledee and Tweedledum, Alice tries desperately to be heard. Eventually the two

Tweedles don their armour for actual battle with one another. (At left) Another character from Alice in Wonderland, Humpty-Dumpty, teeters on the edge of his wall. Matinee performances of the puppet show are held each Sunday at the Tantamount Theatre.

Premier performance of 'Orchestral Design' played at Monterey Symphony concert

The concert given by the Monterey Symphony orchestra on Tuesday, February 8 at Sunset Auditorium was a gratifying experience for its audience.

Presented for the first time on the Peninsula was a composition by David Mulder, a music teacher in the Salinas schools. His composition, "Orchestral Design," was written in 1962 while he was a graduate student at the University of the Pacific. The piece is exactly what its name implies, a melody orchestrated for every section of the orchestra. The haunting melody sounds as though its inspiration is from Hebrew music.

Mr. Mulder was present in the audience to hear the enthusiastic applause which greeted his composition.

Cellist Rolf Storseth was guest soloist of the evening. He is a fine virtuoso and the Symphony is fortunate to have him as first cellist.

"Pictures at an Exhibition" by Moussourgsky was the final selection of the evening. A popular and well known composition, the audience thoroughly enjoyed every separate section, and applauded Mr. Gosling and the orchestra long and enthusiastically.

There were many seats available at the performance although the house was sold out. Perhaps a phone call to the box office by would-be symphony goers would reward them with available seats. The Monterey County Symphony is excellent, and well worth braving a cold and rainy evening to attend.

Denis Wagner makes the Valley ring with his creations

Photos by Robert Isaacs

THE CASTING BOX is made of two parts. The aluminum bell mold is placed in the lower portion in an upright position and oiled sand is pounded hard around it. Then the box is turned over, revealing the open end of the bell. Parting dust is put on the inside cavity and the oiled sandpacked and pounded into the space. Again reversing the two-piece box, the top part is removed and the metal master is taken out. Denis scratches his planned designs on the sand wall that remains. When the form is put back together, the molten brass is poured into the space, forming the bell.

Denis Wagner and his wife, Suzy, live high on a hill overlooking the Carmel River as it flows through the Rancho Fiesta lowlands. At the rear of their home, in an outdoor workshop, Denis casts wind bells in brass, and interesting non-objective shapes in aluminum and brass. It is a very busy place, with Denis pouring metals outdoors and Suzy weaving at her loom and taking care of their baby son, Daniel, indoors.

Both Denis and Suzy graduated from California Poly Tech in San Luis Obispo, she, in Biology, and he, in Architecture.

Last year at this time, Denis started experimenting with his wind bells. He really got under way during the summer and won Best in Class and First in metals with them in the Fall at the Monterey County Fair.

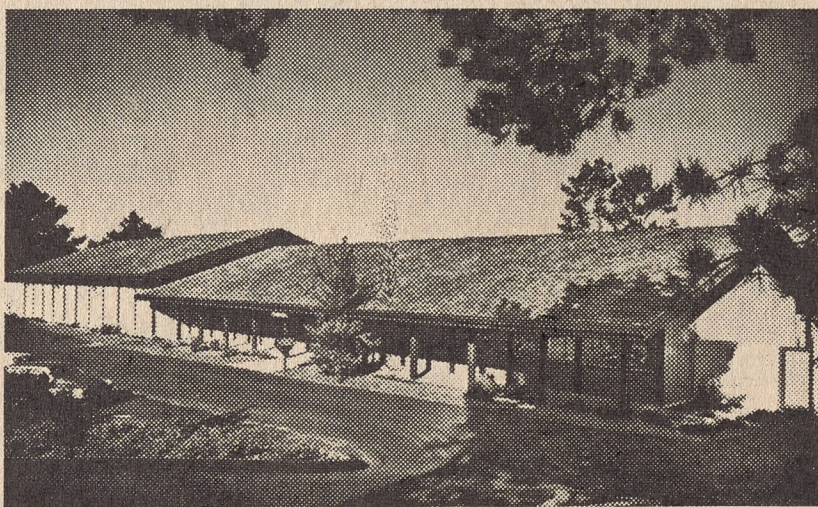

DENIS scoops out a funnel for the molten metal in the box of oily hard-packed sand. Air holes must also be provided to allow vapors to escape.

THE FURNACE which melts the yellow brass or aluminum for casting was made by Denis from an oil drum, refractory and fire brick and an old vacuum cleaner as bellows. It is gas fired and reduces aluminum to a molten state at 1200 degrees and brass at 2100 degrees. Denis (right) and a friend, Peter Pilat, remove the glowing crucible of molten brass, preparatory to pouring.

LOOKING A LITTLE like pancakes on a griddle, the metal in the funnel-like opening begins to solidify as it cools. Sometimes the oil in the sand and the wood of the box catch fire from the extreme heat of the molten metal.

IT TAKES ALOT of practice to handle the heavy crucible and pour directly into the spout without spilling. The two men must work fast to get the pouring completed while the metal is at its optimum temperature.

AFTER MODELING the desired shape for his wind bells in clay, Denis pounds sand hard around the form. He then removes the solid clay shape and makes a slip casting of the impression. The thickness determines the tonal quality. From this he makes a plaster cast and then pours an aluminum master mold, which is used for making any number of bells in brass.

California Rodeo Sweetheart search now under way

Directors of the California Rodeo at Salinas are beginning to wonder if Fresno county has a corner on the state's most attractive and proficient cowgirls. Although girls from all over the state compete for a $500 scholarship in the rodeo's annual "Sweetheart" search three of the past four winners have been from Fresno county and the fourth now attends Fresno State College. The present title holder is Debbie Van Buren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Buren of Fresno.

The contest this year, as usual, got underway on Valentine's Day and the winner will be announced on the opening day of the 1966 California Rodeo at Salinas, July 21 to 24. The contest is open to all high school seniors, except those who live in Salinas or attend school in the Salinas High School district. For purposes of the contest a senior is defined as one who will be graduated in June 1966, or who is about to enter her senior year in the fall.

Contestants may not, however, enter more than once and may not have been married prior to the competition at Salinas.

In addition to a $500 scholarship to the all-around winner, trophies will be awarded to winners of each of the three phases of the contest. These are horsemanship (40%), personality and appearance in Western attire (40%) and scholarship (20%).

Application blanks and further information may be obtained by writing Contest Chairman, P.O. Box 1648, Salinas, California.

Camera Club meets tomorrow

The Padre Trails Camera Club will meet on Thursday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock. The club contest will include both black and white prints, and color slides. Subject matter for the contest will be sunsets, sunrises, moon pictures, or night scenes.

Answering reader's questions

By Belva Sanford, F.A.I.D.

QUESTION: What is meant by the color circle and the color solid? L.D.

ANSWER: In discussing materials for decorating, we use color as dye or pigment or show-card paint. To visualize the color circle, think of the pure primary colors on the outside of a wheel: yellow, blue and red. Then think of the mixtures between each pair: green, purple and orange.

Now go down the spokes of the wheel with your eye. Each hue is neutralized by its contrasting color, becoming less intense as it hits the center, neutral grey. These gradations are referred to as the intensities of the colors.

The next step is to consider this wheel in the middle of an upright cylinder. By adding white and moving it upwards we get many variations of tints, or light values. By adding black and moving it downwards we get tones, or dark values.

There are many excellent scientific color theories, but for now we just want to realize the possibilities of variation in hue, value and intensity at our disposal.

QUESTION: In our small two-bedroom house, how can we tie colors together without having it all the same? We like yellow and light colors. J.F.

ANSWER: Yellow is versatile and would be a good connecting color in each room. In the living room try carpeting (or rugs) or green, walls in lighter green, curtains in pale yellow or white, (a "thick and thin" textured fabric would be fresh, and if over double fullness would give privacy) sofa cover in a print with a yellow ground, and flowers in apricot, green and white, a pair of chairs upholstered or slip-covered in a rough-textured lemon fabric, darker than the print ground. For occasional or side chairs use a stripe or plaid in deeper greens, russet, or golden brown.

One bedroom: white floor covering, yellow walls, bedspreads in textured cotton in several tones of yellow, pillows and curtains in a print of white, yellow and blue-green.

Second bedroom: brown, beige, white, gold, with one fabric a mixture of brown and charcoal black. These colors could be balanced towards a room predominately light or dark, according to the use of the room. In a small house you might use it as a bedroom-sitting room. The bed or studio couch could be covered in the brown charcoal-black fabric, with plenty of pillows in all the clear strong yellows and in beiges and white.

Parents asked to volunteer in all departments at Middle School

Carmel Middle School is embarking on a teacher aid program which calls for parent help. At Middle School they call it "FTTTTOKBASTTDATST" or "Free - The - Teachers - To Teach - Our - Kids - Better - And - Stretch - The - Tax - Dollar - at - The - Same - Time," Project.

Parents are being asked to volunteer for a number of non-teaching jobs to save the time of teachers for more valuable work.

Particularly needed are typists, librarians, teacher-aids, English readers and playground assistants.

Typists are wanted to make masters of tests and assignments, to type tests and to duplicate supplementary materials from books. Most of this can be done at home.

The call for librarians is to help catalogue books, make cards, shelve books and generally assist the school librarian.

Teacher-aids would collect and correct papers (keys are used for this, so volunteers don't have to be specialists), supervise small groups while teachers take large groups, and to make ditto masters from books.

English readers, who would read and correct themes, should preferably be college grads with English background.

Playground assistants would help the staff supervise courts and playgrounds.

Those interested may call the Middle School - 624-2785 - Orville C. Rogers, principal, or Henry C. Chappel, assistant principal. Or they may write to principal's office, Carmel Middle School, P. O. Box 500, Carmel.

DR. GEORGE GARNER

Dr. George Garner, who had made his home on Laurel Drive for the past six years, died a week ago in San Francisco. Dr. Garner, who was retired, apparently suffered a heart attack following surgery.

He and his wife, Irene, came to the Valley in 1960 from Taft, California, where he had been a practicing physician for 35 years.

Dr. Garner was born in Adair, Iowa, and received his medical degree from Northwestern University in Chicago, Illinois.

In addition to his wife, Irene, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Lavaroni of San Andreas, and a son, William Garner of Seattle, Washington.

Requiem Mass was celebrated this morning at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church and burial will be in San Andreas.

Women's Club hear St. Galy talk at luncheon

Sixty-five members of the Carmel Valley Women's Club turned out for last week's luncheon to hear Geza St. Galy. Mr. St. Galy captivated his audience with tales of the history of mosaics and a talk on mosaics in architecture. Many beautiful panels of mosaic were used by the artist to illustrate points.

Mrs. Fred Starr arranged the luncheon which was held at the Carmel Valley Inn. Mrs. Richard Dick introduced the speaker.

A GIANT OAK tree toppled on the home of Miss Billie Mans in Robles del Rio last week. Pulling out of the rain-softened soil, the oak toppled over at about 11:30 at night, startling Miss Mans, who was preparing for bed. Fortunately little actual damage was done other than ripping of utility lines to the house.

Safeway to build 3rd Valley store at Carmel Center

Carmel and Carmel Valley residents will soon have a choice of three Safeway Stores from which to choose. A lease has just been signed with Carmel Properties Company for a new supermarket east of Highway 1 near Rio Road in the new Carmel Center.

The new store will include a bakery, snack bar, delicatessen and liquor department, and will contain about 30,000 square feet. Arthur Clark of Carmel Properties said that there will also be a bank and service station in the complex plus about 50,000 square feet of other stores.

The existing Safeway Store at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center will still be remodeled and kept open.

A third Safeway is now under construction in the Carmel Valley Shopping Center at Dorris Drive and Carmel Valley Road, near the Farm Center. That store is expected to open in Mid-summer and will contain 20,000 square feet of space, according to Paul Porter.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cacti

By Mildred Hattan

Honey and Jack Lundin of Poppy Road are the latest Valleyites to fall under the spell of Puerta Vallarta. Boarding a plane for their trip south of the border they found the passenger list resembled the Valley phone directory listing Will Fay, Virginia Adadow, Jimmy Lyles, and Cliff Washington. They noted that the area popularized as a resort following the filming of "The Night of the Iguana" draws in particular Americanos from Chicago and San Francisco. (Mr. and Mrs. John Rushmer and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Thornburg of the Valley had left the day before the Lundins arrived.) They met and made the return trip with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hatch of Modesto who frequently visit the Valley and Carmel where their son Dalton and his partner own "The Book Worm."

At Rio Cuale

At Rio Cuale they were joined for cocktails by Mr. and Mrs. W. Jennings of the Import Fabric Shop in Carmel and met friends, Mr. and Mrs. Tappan Ludemann of Fremont. They visited the magnificent three level casa of Carmel Valley's Mandeville Webb. His home has stunning appointments with all furnishings custom made by a local designer. The Lundins were amused by his black jeep with a black and white striped surrey top in which he tours the town and is greeted by the natives as "Senor Mondy."

They enjoyed a six hour boat trip to Yelapa (called "Instant Tahiti") where the roofs are all thatched and the water washing the beautiful beaches is warm. From here they took a side trip picnic in two huge high type trucks with fringed tops capable of transporting 80 people. They were driven over unbelievable wagon trail roads and through fertile farm lands which had corn crops which would put Iowa to shame! They forded two rivers where the clicking of many cameras was apparent as they recorded male and female natives bathing. Arriving at Chinos Beach they found native personnel had arrived before them and prepared delicious Mexican foods. The 1000 yard beach was ideal for bathing in the very salty buoyant water and gathering sea shells.

More Valley friends

The Lundins met Mrs. Bert (Maggie) Dinelt of the Valley and the newly renovated Gunn House at Sanora who has a beautiful three unit Casa at Gringo Gulch, and Dr. Dick Reeves, a frequent Valley visitor from San Francisco whose casa is located next to "Casa Mandy." Honey said that everyone is awaiting the arrival of the "Liz-Dick-Burton entourage" and they viewed their casa with a bridge connecting the main house with guest house, cabanas and pool. She was particularly impressed with the cleanliness of the area where they sweep the cobble stone streets every day. They discovered that you never know if a house is going up or coming down since it is all used brick, suddenly painted and a new house has been completed.

Honey was smitten with the children with their big dark eyes and by the time they left had a number of them greeting her with "o'allo!" And so it came time for the Lundins to say goodbyes to beautiful Puerta Vallarta. With tales of the many people and places visited by the Lundins it is hard to realize that the first seven days of their stay found Honey quite ill with pneumonia. Imagine how exhausting their schedule would have been had she not been recuperating!

The reason for that "Gone Fishin'" sign last week on the door of Henriettes Interiors was because the Les Jewett family was spending a week in Death Valley at Furnace Creek Inn.

Reykjakik, Iceland is the home base for Tommy Holton who was house guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weber of Deer Meadow Place. Mr. Holton who bears the distinction of being the only American businessman in Iceland makes an annual trip to the states selling handsome Icelandic sweaters. In his employ are one hundred girls who are able to knit four sweaters a week. The Scandinavian designs in natural wools of greys, browns, blacks, and whites are a popular item throughout the States and particularly in ski shops. Mr. Holton began his career after meeting and marrying an Icelandic girl while serving in the Navy and returning to Iceland to make his home.

Mrs. June Wood has sold her home on Country Club Drive and has moved to Carmel. The new owner is Bill Williams formerly of San Jose, who is now associated with radio station KDON. June's mother, Mrs. Lillian Wood, has moved from the Hacienda to her former home in Fresno.

Hospitality abounds at the La Rancheria home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Wade. Among their recent guests have been Alice Everett M'Closky who instructs Costume Design in the art department at UCLA, and Mr. and Mrs. James McCool of Billings, Montana where Mr. McCool recently retired from service with the Bureau of Reclamation. Mr. and Mrs. Frances Wade came from Lake Oswega, where Mr. Wade recently retired from his position with the State of Oregon, and the Wades entertained Mrs. Elma Ballou from Palo Alto.

Children's birthday parties are always fun but none can compare with the merriment found where twins are involved. Last week Mrs. June Feeney invited playmates and their Four Naval Postgraduate School Students were decorated for service in Vietnam last Friday by Rear Admiral E. J. O'Donnell, school superintendent.

A Distinguished Flying Cross was presented to Lieutenant John P. McMahon of 482 Bowen Street, Monterey, a student in the school's aeronautical engineering program.

McMahon, already a holder of seven Air Medals and two commendation medals was awarded the DFC for providing air cover for a downed fellow aviator in North Vietnam. In the course of his action, which kept him within range of intense enemy ground fire for more than an hour, his Skyraider attack aircraft was hit 196 times. At the time he was attached to Attack Squadron 165 aboard the USS Coral Sea.

A La Mesa Village resident, Lieutenant Robert D. Matulka, received his ninth and tenth Air Medals for achievement while a pilot in Attack Squadron 23 aboard the USS Midway.

Lieutenant Commander James M. Gleim of Carmel Valley, flight deck officer aboard the USS Coral Sea from February to October last year, was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal for his contribution to the operating efficiency of the ship.

During that period, Lt. Cmdr. Gleim supervised approximately 75,000 aircraft moves on the carrier's flight deck. These were moved made in support of 14,000 sorties.

His citation states that "Lieutenant Commander Gleim's diligence and stamina significantly enhanced the performance of his ship and its assigned airwing."

Lt. Cmdr. Gleim is living at 440 Robles del Rio while attending the Postgraduate School.

Security National wins merger approval, Feb. 18 date set

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in Washington, D.C., announced today in a 4-3 decision the approval of the merger of the Security National Bank of Monterey County and the United California Bank.

William A. Burkett, President and Chairman of the Board of Security National Bank, stated that the merger would be officially consummated by the two banks as of close of business, Friday, February 18, 1966.

Mr. Francis S. Baer, Chairman of the Board of United California Bank, announced in San Francisco that all of the Security National Bank's officers and personnel will be retained. Mr. Burkett, 52, said his health necessarily required him to retire although he said he will be retained for ten years as a consultant on an "if and when his health permits" basis.

Burkett said the merger will not in any way affect the installation of the bank's new downtown branch at the southeast corner of Alvarado and Franklin Streets. The new $400,000 banking structure is scheduled for construction beginning April 1 for opening July 1.

UCB stated it will not alter the bank's colonial design because they are desirous of keeping the early-American architectural appearance, as well as the unique antique furnishings found in the Security National Bank's offices located in Pacific Grove, Carmel Valley, Carmel, New Monterey, Seaside and Marina.

The bank became widely known for its competitiveness and the unique friendliness of its personnel. It was the first bank in California to return to Saturday morning banking and to install 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily banking.

Burkett said that he regretted the decision to sell the bank, but due to his health the decision was necessary.

Corrupt practices suit filed

4—It "burdened applicants both named and unnamed with a higher tax rate on their own holdings by freeing Alcan of certain portion of its legal tax payment."

5—It created "special or spot zoning."

6—It gave "special treatment" to Alcan and thus "is contrary to the public interest, safety, health and welfare of the county as a whole; and the denial of it would not have resulted in either practical difficulties nor in unnecessary hardships to Alcan."

7—It "disregarded the facts disclosed by the staff of the Monterey County Planning Commission." The staff indicated that the Alcan subdivision was contrary to the Carmel Valley master plan.

8—It "disregarded the legal opinion (of County Counsel William Stoffers) as to the illegality of the restrictive proviso."

9—It provided that the supervisors could reconvey the easement to Alcan at any future time.

Hudson explains position

ture of the charges, I would like to make the following comments:

1—There are a whole series of scenic easement deeds that have the identical type of the provision, including among others, Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, which was a cluster subdivision, as well as Laguna Seca Estate, a similar type.

2—The county counsel did not give the opinion that if a provision regarding condemnation is included, it would make the deed illegal.

3—The reason for this provision first came to my attention when the State Division of Beaches and Parks accepted a scenic easement deed from an elderly person who owned property directly across from Big Sur Park. In this memorable case, they waited until he had passed away and then moved in and condemned the property, successfully urging the courts that the property was valueless because they had previously acquired the deed.

"The importance of this legal action is not the name calling but instead, the serious threat to the whole concept of the scenic easement program, in which Monterey County has led the nation.

"There is a suggestion that in the event of condemnation the developers would realize a double profit. This is not the case since the property owners who would purchase homesites on the Mesa would be the ones who would own the underlying fee to the scenic easement area—not the developers.

"The president of the CVPOA, Mr. Rex Pryer, has apologized to me for having made the statement quoted by the Herald concerning this subject.

"The development of this park area for the use of Monterey County residents will be the subject of a report which I will make shortly."

Chamber meeting problem.

Luis Wolter, another Chamber director, suggested that a reason for retaining four-lane plan lines for CV Road is to allow space for underground lines.

"It's up to the people themselves as to whether they want to have sewers," Bivins declared, "but let's not kid ourselves about the need."

PlanCom keeps 'G'

or smoke associated with the operation.

Each of these would require approval of a use permit.

The lone speaker requesting removal of the "G" from KGB4 zoning was General James Phillips of Rancho Rio Vista, although a letter from Dudley Swim was read in favor of removing the "G" in the "interest of preserving the rural-residential quality of the Valley."

Carmel Martin Jr. of Carmel, representing the Thacker, Williams, McKenzie, Doud, Meadows, Martin, Grant, Schetter, Pilot, Noto and several other property owners in the Rancho Canada area, charged that to change the "G" zoning would jeopardize the property owners' inheritance and that the zoning pattern which has been in existence for the past nine years provides a broader tax base.

Vivian Holman, Don McKenzie, Luis Wolters, Steve Grant, Emilio Odello, and Roy Meadows spoke in favor of retaining the existing zoning. Meadows and McKenzie were both of the opinion that it would be unwise to chop off the flexible zone before future needs have been determined.

Ed DeMars briefly sketched the zone's history, stating that it had been misused in some cases and when it was originally set up, the planners did not foresee the vast change in density brought about by the three retirement homes in the Valley. The thought was more in terms of resorts with transient, rather than permanent, residents.

After a brief discussion among the Commissioners, Willard Branson moved to deny the application for removal of the "G" zone. After the motion was carried unanimously, it was suggested that the planning staff study the uses of the zone in terms of possible readjustments in size allotments.

The Planning Commission decision is final and the matter will not be referred to the Board of Supervisors on appeal.
